

04 Packages

main function and main package

Every executable go application must contain a main function. This function is the entry point for execution. The main function should reside in the main package.